

Peri and the Doctor are climbing over the wall to get into the Tranquil Repose complex on Nekros. Off-colour dialogue about broken watch, except that Peri is less repentant than on TV. She is resentful of being brought here and complains of the cold and the silly clothes she has to wear. The Doctor has already explained it is a mark of respect at a funeral, and he is not responsible for the weather, but Peri is not mollified. The Doctor seats himself astride the wall and says, 'If you don't like the cold and you don't like wearing blue, my girl, then I shall see to it that at least part of you is very warm and very red!' And he puts her across his knee, legs on one side of the wall, head on the other, and spanks her. Peri is mortified, partly because from her position she has to look down (even though she's very securely held no matter how she kicks), and partly because they are up so high that somebody may see. It's a very chastened Peri who arrives down the other side of the wall...